

Continent Rankings

University of Agricultural Sciences, Bangalore excels in Best Value University Rankings in Asia 2024

Year after year, many Asian universities have proven themselves a global frontrunners in various disciplines and capable of competing with institutions from America and Europe. By implementing innovative approaches to teaching, research and outreach activities collaborating with key players in different industries, universities in the region continue to enhance the quality of education.

The Study Abroad Aide based at South Korea is one of the largest database of universities in the world. It encompasses the database of over 8,000 institutions across the world, including 3,349 institutions from 20 Asian countries. It helps the students to select the right overseas institution through Best Value University Rankings, which is based on two criteria i.e., Academic Quality comprising 75% weightage, and Cost of Education for remaining 25%. The rankings are available in the below website,

<https://studyabroadaide.com/best-value-institutions-asia/>